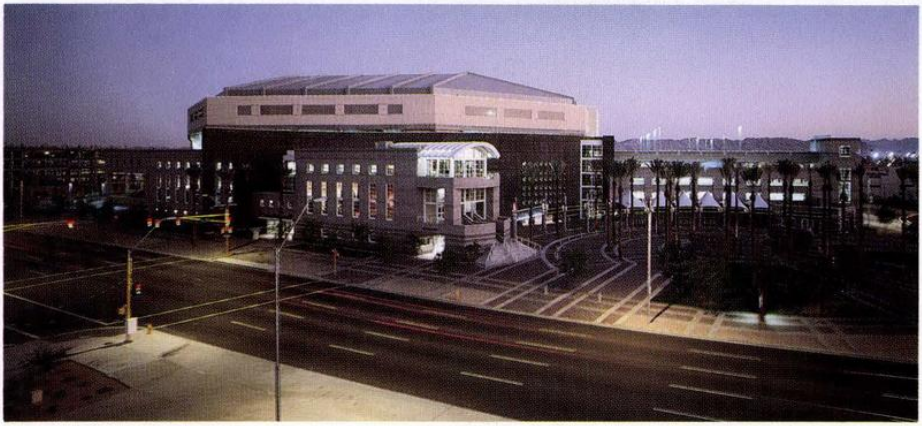
America West Arena



This season, the Phoenix Suns bring their rich, 25-year tradition to a brand-new home — the America West Arena.

Named for Phoenix's hometown airline, the Arena stands in tribute to the unprecedented partnership among the city of Phoenix, America West Airlines and the Phoenix Suns and to the long-held dream of Phoenix Suns President and CEO, Jerry Colangelo.

Colangelo has spent more than 26 years in the NBA, all the while nurturing the dream of an Arena built primarily for a basketball team he would call his own. The thousands of hours spent in other people's buildings developed Colangelo's keen eye and kept the desire burning. Since the inception of the franchise, the Phoenix Suns have played home games at the 14,500-seat Arizona Veterans' Memorial Coliseum. Constructed in 1965, the Coliseum is one of the oldest and smallest facilities used by an NBA team.

But his dream took one step closer to reality in 1987, when Colangelo led a group of investors in the purchase of the Phoenix Suns franchise and immediately began exploring the possibility of a downtown Phoenix Arena with then-Mayor of Phoenix, Terry Goddard. The proposed partnership featured the city as facility owner with the Suns providing management expertise.

The benefits would be mutual as well — the Phoenix Suns would receive a home built around basketball and featuring all the amenities which would allow them to be more competitive in the NBA. The city would receive a downtown traffic builder (estimated at up to two million people annually) and a guarantee that the Suns would play in downtown Phoenix for at least 40 years. In August 1989, America West Airlines joined the team and committed to become Arena's naming sponsor.

The next year was spent assembling the design and construction team for a multi-purpose Arena that would emphasize the needs of its primary tenant. Sports facility specialist Ellerbe Becket was named principal architect, followed by Huntcor as project managers and Mardian Construction (now Perini) as general contractor. Early in 1990, the design team unveiled a model of the one-million-square-foot, 20,000-seat Arena that impressed fans and skeptics alike.

On August 1, 1990, Colangelo was joined by new Phoenix Mayor Paul Johnson, America West Airlines CEO Ed Beauvais and several hundred guests in groundbreaking ceremonies at "center court" of the Arena. Mardian began an aggressive construction schedule that would have the America West Arena open on June 1, 1992.

A series of sell-out entertainment and sporting events marked the debut of the America West Arena's summer grand opening. Huey Lewis, Garth Brooks, Hammer and Metallica are just a few of the top entertainers who praised the building and its management. But on November 7th, a new era begins for this young building as the Phoenix Suns bring their own brand of entertainment to the floor.

The name Jerry Colangelo is synonymous with the Phoenix Suns. A savvy businessman and astute judge of basketball talent, Colangelo has guided the Phoenix Suns to their prominent position as one of the National Basketball Association's most successful franchises both on and off the court. As the adage goes, success starts at the top. For the past 24 years, the man at the top has been Colangelo.

Hired as the Suns' first general manager on March 1, 1968, Colangelo, then 28, was the youngest general manager in professional sports. His tenure running the same NBA franchise can be exceeded only by Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics.

A 26-year veteran of the NBA, Colangelo continued in the capacity of general manager until October of 1987 when he led a group that purchased the Suns franchise for $44.5 million. Since that time, Colangelo has served as the Suns President and Chief Executive Officer.

After purchasing the franchise, Colangelo made a series of bold moves. First was the blockbuster trade in February of 1988 that brought Kevin Johnson, Mark West and a first-round draft pick which became Dan Majerle to Phoenix. In May of that same year he named Cotton Fitzsimmons as the head coach, and in July, he inked the first unrestricted free agent in NBA history, Tom Chambers. By the following season the club had posted a 50-plus win season and Colangelo was named NBA Executive of the Year (1988-89). He is the only person in NBA history to win this award three times having also been honored in 1975-76 and 1980-81.

Under his guidance as owner and chief executive officer the Suns have posted four consecutive 50-plus win seasons and advanced to the Western Conference Finals two of the four seasons. Over the past four years, the Suns' regular season record of 217-111 (.662) is the fifth best record in the NBA behind only Chicago, the Lakers, Detroit and Portland.

The success on the court was matched off the court as Phoenix set new team attendance records in each of the last four seasons while playing at Veterans' Memorial Coliseum.

Colangelo's vision for the future led to the June, 1992, opening of the state-of-the-art America West Arena, with a capacity of 19,023 for basketball. Colangelo was the driving force behind the effort to bring the America West Arena to downtown Phoenix. It was under his direction that it was designed, and under his guidance that it is managed. The arena, a unique partnership between the Suns and the City of Phoenix, is a catalyst for the rebirth of downtown Phoenix with a projected 200 events and two million patrons annually.

Colangelo serves in several advisory capacities for the NBA, including the Board of Governors, the Finance Committee, the Long Range Planning Committee, and he was the chairman of the Competition and Rules Committee for four years. He also serves on the Honors Committee of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts.

Highly regarded for his commitment to the community, Colangelo is actively involved in numerous Phoenix organizations. He is on the Board of Directors of the Phoenix Art Museum, the Phoenix Country Club, the Phoenix Community Alliance and Phoenix Suns Charities. He serves as President of the Phoenix Forty, an influential business group. He is Vice President of the Phoenix Downtown Partnership and is the chairman of the Southwest Leadership Foundation.

Jerry Colangelo

He is also a member of the Arizona State University College of Business Dean's Council of 100. He was named Phoenix Entrepreneur of the Year for 1990 by the ASU College of Business and was honored in 1991 by the Phoenix Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America for exemplary corporate public relations. He is a life member of the Phoenix Thunderbirds, an organization dedicated to the promotion of Phoenix through sports. He was the former President of the Valley Big Brothers and is chairman of the board of the Christian Businessmen's Club. He has been honored by the Phoenix Jaycees, the Boy's Clubs and the Boy Scouts. He is also a director and principal of Stratford American Corporation, a real estate development company.

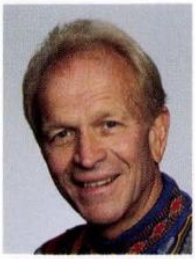
In addition to his front office duties, Colangelo has twice stepped in to coach the Suns. He took over for Johnny Kerr on January 2, 1970 and guided the club to its first playoff appearance and a 24-20 record that year. He also replaced Butch van Breda Kolff early in the 1972-73 season and compiled a 35-40 mark. Overall, Colangelo has a 59-60 record as an NBA coach.

Colangelo began his sports management career as the head scout and director of merchandising for the Chicago Bulls when they entered the NBA in 1966. He later became the executive assistant to Dick Klein, president and general manager of the Bulls.

Colangelo originally enrolled at the University of Kansas, but transferred after his prospective teammate, Wilt Chamberlain, left the Jayhawks for a pro contract. Colangelo transferred to the University of Illinois, where he earned All-Big Ten honors, averaging 15 points per game. He captained the Illinois team as a senior. He also played two years of baseball at Illinois. He was inducted into the Illinois Basketball Hall of Fame.

Colangelo prepped at Bloom Township High in Chicago Heights, Illinois, averaging 15 points per game, Over two years, his team was 49-8 and made two appearances in the Illinois State Championship Tournament. A left-hander, he was also the top pitcher on the school baseball team that featured former Yankee hurler Jim Bouton. Upon graduation Colangelo had 66 scholarship offers for college basketball and seven offers for pro baseball contracts. He earned All-State recognition in basketball as a senior.

Colangelo was born on November 20, 1939. He grew up in the "Hungry Hill" neighborhood of Chicago Heights. Jerry and his wife Joan have four children: Kathy Holcombe of Atlanta, Kristen Brubaker of Phoenix, Bryan of Phoenix, and a daughter Mandie, 14.



Cotton Fitzsimmons

Senior Executive Vice President

COLLEGE: Midwestern State University '57
DEGREE: B.S. Political Science/History, M.S. Education/P.E.
HIGH SCHOOL: Bowling Green H.S., Bowling Green, MO

Cotton Fitzsimmons is going to be looking at the NBA from a new vantage point. Handing over the reins as head coach to Paul Westphal, he moved upstairs as the Senior Executive Vice President of the team. He will assist the Suns' President and Chief Executive Officer Jerry Colangelo with the day-to-day operations of the team and will take to the air as the Suns television color commentator. Being in front of the camera isn't new for Cotton. He has worked for both TNT and NBC during the NBA Playoffs.

Fitzsimmons leaves the sidelines after coaching the Suns to four consecutive 50+ win seasons and two trips to the Western Conference Finals in the past four years. In that four-year span Phoenix's 217-111 (.662) record trails only the Lakers, Portland, Chicago and Detroit.

Fitzsimmons' 19-year NBA coaching record is an impressive 805-745 (.519). He is the sixth winningest coach in NBA history behind only Red Auerbach, Jack Ramsay, Dick Motta, Bill Fitch and Lenny Wilkens. He has twice been honored as the NBA Coach of the Year. His 314-178 (.638) record is the highest winning percentage of any Suns coach. It includes a two-year stint from 1970 through 1972.

This past season, Fitzsimmons recorded his 800th coaching victory on March 31, 1992 vs. Portland, becoming only the sixth man in NBA history to reach the plateau. The Fitzsimmons' led teams set numerous records during his tenure. The 1990-91 Suns won 23 road games, eclipsing the team record of 22 set in 1989-90. They also won 13 games in March which tied the club mark for most wins in any month. In 1989-90 the team advanced to a Western Conference Finals appearance. That year they set a then club record of 22 road wins. Their 11-1 record in February included a stretch of 19 wins in a row at home and 10 wins in a row in January, both were single season records. Fitzsimmons reached the .500 win level on Feb. 24, 1990, the first time since the 1976 season when he was the head coach of the Atlanta Hawks.

Fitzsimmons' first year of his second stint with the Suns, 1988-89, was the kind of year that all coaches just dream about. The Suns won 27 more games than the previous year, which at the time was the third biggest turnaround in NBA history. The 55-27 record is the second best mark in franchise history. It was the first time in his NBA coaching career that he led a team to 50 or more wins. The Suns made the playoffs for the first time in four years and went all the way to the Western Conference Finals before falling to the Lakers. Fitzsimmons was named NBA Coach of the Month for April and was ultimately honored as Coach of the Year by the NBA, The Sporting News and Basketball Weekly.

Fitzsimmons was named head coach May 10, 1988, a year after he had been named the Suns first director of player personnel. Fitzsimmons began his pro coaching career with Phoenix in 1970 and posted a 97-67 record for two seasons.

Among Fitzsimmons' other coaching stops included the San Antonio Spurs from 1984-86 where he posted a 76-88 mark over two seasons and led the Spurs to the playoffs each year. From 1978-84 he coached the Kansas City Kings to a 248-224 record record. While there, he was named NBA Coach of the Year in 1978-79 after leading the Kings to a first place finish in the Midwest Division. Prior to joining the Kings, Fitzsimmons coached the Buffalo Braves for one season (1977-78) and the Atlanta Hawks for four years (1972-76) accumulating a 140-180 record. During the 1976-77 season, he was the director of player personnel for the Golden State Warriors.

Fitzsimmons began his coaching career at Moberly (MO) Junior College in 1958. In nine years at Moberly he was 223-59 (.791) and his teams won 24 or more games in his last seven seasons as head coach there with his best record of 31-2 coming in 1966-67. His teams won JUCO titles in 1966 and 1967 and he was named Coach of the Year in 1966 and 1967. He then moved to Kansas State as an assistant coach and took over as head coach in 1968. In two years there, he led the Wildcats to a 34-20 (.630) record. He was named the Big Eight Coach of the Year in 1970, after leading the Wildcats to a 20-8 mark and an appearance in the NCAA tournament semi-finals.

Fitzsimmons was inducted into the Missouri Basketball Hall of Fame during the summer of 1988 and into the National Junior College Hall of Fame in the spring of 1985. He and his wife JoAnn reside in Phoenix. His son, Gary, is the director of player personnel with the Cleveland Cavaliers. Cotton enjoys golf and fishing in his spare time. He was born October 7, 1931 in Hannibal, Missouri.

Under his guidance, the team was 14-12 and went 12-3 in their last 15 games. The "original Sun," he came to Phoenix on May 6, 1968 in the NBA Expansion Draft. In his first three seasons in Phoenix he averaged 21 points per game and was named to three consecutive All-Star games. He was the man who scored the very first point in Suns history in 1968 and went on to score 12,060 points for Phoenix. He averaged 17.6 points per game over nine years for the Suns. Head Coach

COLLEGE:
University of Southern California '72

HIGH SCHOOL:
Aviation,
Redondo Beach, California

COACHING CAPSULE: Prior to the start of the 1992 Playoffs, the Phoenix Suns announced that effective July 1, Paul Westphal would become the team's new head coach. Although the timing came as a surprise, the announcement itself did not. When Cotton Fitzsimmons became the Suns coach before the 1988-89 season with Westphal and Lionel Hollins as his assistants, the plan called for him to take over as head coach when Cotton decided to step down. It was a unique situation but one that not only provided Westphal with time to mature and learn from one of the all-time winningest NBA coaches, but also made for an unusually smooth transition as far as coaching changes go. One of Westphal's first tasks was to name Lionel Hollins and Scotty Robertson as assistant coaches. As a player, Westphal was known for his willingness to try new things on the court and be creative with the basketball. These two elements from his playing days are sure to be strengths in his coaching style. Before he joined the Suns staff as an assistant coach, Paul spent three years as a college head coach, two at Grand Canyon and one at Southwestern. His coaching career began at Southwestern, a small Bible school in Phoenix. Although he took over a team which was coming off a 3-20 record, Westphal's 1985-86 club went 21-9 and qualified for the National Little College Athletic Association Tournament. Success followed Westphal to Grand Canyon where he compiled a 63-18 record over two seasons, including the NAIA national championship in 1987-88.

PRO PLAYING CAPSULE: Paul was a first round selection (#10 overall) of the Boston Celtics in the 1972 draft. He played three years for the Celtics averaging 7.3 points and 14.4 minutes per game. Prior to the 1975-76 season, Westphal was traded to the Phoenix Suns where he spent the next five seasons. While in a Suns uniform, Paul was a four-time All-Star and led the team in scoring in each of his five seasons. His best scoring year with Phoenix was in 1977-78 when he averaged 25.2 points per game, shooting .516 from the field and .813 from the free throw line. He was traded to Seattle for Dennis Johnson in 1980 where he spent one season. After finishing his contract with the Sonics, Westphal was signed as a free agent by the New York Knicks. He played two seasons for the Knicks, winning the NBA Comeback Player of the Year award in 1982-83 following successful foot surgery. Paul returned to the Suns in 1983-84 to play his final season in the NBA. He ranks as the #4 all-time scorer in Suns history (9,564 points). Overall, Westphal was a five-time NBA All-Star and was named All-NBA four times. "Mom says I have too much energy."

The truth is, we all use more energy than we need around the house. And this wasted energy not only costs us money, it depletes our natural resources. Fortunately, there are many ways to save energy, and be in concert with the environment.

For example, air conditioning accounts for up to 70% of a summer electric bill in desert areas. But you can save 4 to 5 percent of this cost for every degree warmer than 78 degrees that you set your thermostat.

Planting deciduous trees around your house will add shade in the summer to lower household temperatures, and let sunshine through in the winter for free solar heating.

You could save another 25% of your heating and cooling costs by properly insulating walls, ceilings and ducts around your home.

To speak to an energy specialist about ways to lower your APS bill, call 371-7171.

*Neutral Court Designation Eliminated By NBA

1968-69

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

On January 22, 1968 the N.B.A. Board of Governors granted a franchise to the city of Phoenix. On April 25, 1968, the name "SUNS" was selected in a contest sponsored by The Arizona Republic. The winning entry was submitted by Mrs. Selinda King of Phoenix.

The Suns began building their team by naming Johnny Kerr as head coach. Kerr, who had coached the Chicago Bulls for the previous two years, was the NBA's Coach of the Year in 1966-67. Next was the 1968 NBA College Draft. Their first selection was Gary Gregor, a 6-7 forward from the University of South Carolina. They continued to build the young squad by making Dick Van Arsdale the first player taken in the expansion draft. Van Arsdale had played the previous three years with New York. Phoenix also selected guard Gail Goodrich, a 3-yr-veteran, from the Los Angeles Lakers.

On October 18th, the Suns opened their rookie season with a 116-107 victory over Seattle as 7,112 fans filled Veterans Memorial Coliseum. Gail Goodrich led the team with 27 points, 10 assists and 9 rebounds while Dick Van Arsdale pitched in 21 points. The Suns went on to finish the month with a 4-3 mark. But that was the last time they would be above .500 as they suffered through the rest of their first season of existence to finish with a 16-66 record.

Goodrich and Van Arsdale led the Suns averaging 23.8 and 21.0 points per game, respectively. Goodrich finished sixth in the league in scoring and third as a guard behind Baltimore's Earl Monroe and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson. Both players also appeared in the NBA All-Star game at Baltimore. Gary Gregor was named to the All-Rookie team.

FRONT ROW: Gail Goodrich, Stan McKenzie, Dick Van Arsdale, Bob Warlick, Dick Snyder.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

With the addition of veterans Paul Silas and Connie Hawkins, the young Suns enjoyed a 13-game turnaround and a trip to their first-ever playoffs. Silas, obtained in a trade with Atlanta for Gary Gregor, gave the team additional inside strength averaging nearly 12 rebounds per game. While Hawkins joined the Suns after a two-year stint in the ABA, where he was among the leaders in scoring, and one year with the Harlem Globetrotters.

On January 2, Suns coach Johnny Kerr resigned just 5 hours prior to that night's game against San Diego. General Manager Jerry Colangelo took over as coach and Connie Hawkins hit a 14-foot jump shot with four seconds left to give Phoenix a 121-120 victory over the Rockets that night.

Colangelo guided the team to a 24-20 mark over the rest of the season en route to a third-place finish behind Atlanta and Los Angeles and the franchise's first postseason action. The Suns drew the Lakers in first round action and dropped the opening game in L.A. But the Suns showed character as they picked up the next three games behind superb play from Silas, Hawkins and Goodrich. However, the likes of Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor were too much for the Suns as the Lakers clinched the series in seven games.

Van Arsdale made his second appearance in January's All-Star game along with the team's scoring leader Connie Hawkins. Hawkins also earned first team All-Pro honors.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Dick Van Arsdale returned for his third season with Phoenix and was the only original Sun remaining. Offseason trades brought veterans Mel Counts and Clem Haskins to the team. Also new was coach Cotton Fitzsimmons, who had led Kansas State to the Big 8 Championship the previous year.

Phoenix posted its best finish with a 48-34 record, fourth best in the league. That included the team's best month ever with a 11-4 mark in January. However, due to the Suns place in the tought Midwest division, the team failed to make the playoffs.

Paul Silas led the team in rebounding for the second straight season pulling down 12.5 per game including a team record 27 vs. Cincinnati on 1/18. Van Arsdale led the club in scoring with a 21.9 average while Hawkins netted 20.9 per game. Van Arsdale and Hawkins were again named to the All-Star game. Hawkins was named as a starter while Van Arsdale was making his third straight appearance.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Fitzsimmons began his second year at the helm. The Suns drafted Dennis Layton, a 6-1 point guard from USC who played previously at Phoenix College. The Suns began the season with a starting lineup of Clem Haskins and Dick Van Arsdale at guard, Neal Walk at center and Connie Hawkins and Paul Silas at the forward spots.

On March 14, the Suns obtained the rights to Charlie Scott from the Boston Celtics in exchange for future considerations. Scott, a 6-6 guard from North Carolina, came over from the Virginia Squires of the ABA where he was averaging 35 points per game.

Phoenix posted a club record 49-33 won-lost mark, improving for the fourth consecutive year. However, despite having the sixth best record in the NBA, the Suns finished behind Milwaukee and Chicago in the Midwest Division and failed to qualify for the playoffs.

Connie Hawkins and Paul Silas represented the West team in the All-Star game. It was Hawkins' third straight appearance and he led the West squad with 13 points and a 112-110 victory.

Silas was named as the Suns Most Valuable Player by the fans as he led the team in rebounding for the third straight year (11.9). Hawkins led the club in scoring with a 21.0 average while Van Arsdale averaged 19.7 points per game. The Suns topped their previous best in attendance totalling 342,922 fans, an average of 8,346 per contest. Phoenix also became only the fourth team in history to lead the NBA in free throws attempted, free throws made and free throw accuracy.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns began the season under new coach Bill van Breda Kolff. Van Breda Kolff became the team's fourth coach, replacing Cotton Fitzsimmons who left in the offseason to coach the Atlanta Hawks. However, seven games into the season, Van Breda Kolff was replaced and Jerry Colangelo assumed the coaching duties for the remainder of the season.

Phoenix played .500 ball through mid-January before struggling through the second half of the season to finish 38-44 and third in the Pacific Division. Charlie Scott led the club in scoring with a franchise record 25.3 average and finished fifth in the NBA. He also became the 10th guard in league history to score more than 2,000 points. Scott, along with Connie Hawkins, were named to the Western Conference All-Star Team. It was Scott's first appearance while Hawkins was making his fourth consecutive visit.

Neal Walk led the team in minutes played with 3,114 and became the second 1,000 rebound man in club history with 1,006. Rookie Corky Calhoun from the Univ. of Pennsylvania was the only Sun to play in all 82 games.

FRONT ROW: Scott English, Lamar Green, Walt Wesley, Head Coach Jerry Colangelo, Neal Walk, Connie Hawkins, Corky Calhoun.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

John MacLeod took the Suns coaching reins from Colangelo during the off-season. MacLeod, 35, had coached the last six years at the University of Oklahoma leading the Sooners to the NIT twice.

New to the team were rookie Mike Bantom, the eighth pick in the college draft, and Keith Erickson, who was acquired in the first month of the season from Los Angeles in exchange for Connie Hawkins. Phoenix went on a 10-game skid early in the season as they were learning a new system under MacLeod and playing one of the roughest portions of their schedule. The Suns finished fourth in the Pacific Division with a 30-52 mark, their lowest number of wins since their inaugural season.

Charlie Scott made his second straight appearance in the All-Star game as he was tops in the Western Conference in scoring with a 26.6 average. He finished the season averaging 25.4 points per game but missed the final 29 games with a broken arm. Van Arsdale led the club in point production with 1389 and shooting percentage (.500). Newcomer Erickson was voted by fans as the Suns Most Outstanding Player.

(Record: 30-52)

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The season was preceded by one of the largest transactions in Suns history with center Neal Walk and a second-round draft pick going to New Orleans in exchange for Curtis Perry, Dennis Awtrey, Nate Hawthorne and a first-round pick in 1976. Also new to the team was rookie John Shumate, a 6-8 forward from Notre Dame who was the fourth pick in the college draft. Unfortunately, Shumate had to sit out his rookie season so he could receive treatment for blood clots. Perry had his best season as a pro averaging 12 points and 12 rebounds per game winning both the Suns' Most Outstanding and Most Popular Player Awards. In late February, the Suns had a shot at the NBA playoffs, but injuries to Van Arsdale and Erickson knocked them from contention. The Suns finished fourth in the Pacific Division with a 32-50 mark. Charlie Scott was the Suns only All-Star representative, his third consecutive appearance. The 25th annual All-Star game was the first one ever played in Phoenix. Scott finished the season as the club's leading scorer with 24.3 points per game. Perry was listed as the #10 rebounder in the NBA.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The most exciting season in Suns history began with the Suns flying out of the gate with a 14-9 start, their best ever. A string of injuries and a puzzling mid-season slump had the Suns winning only 4 of their next 22 but after the All-Star break the Suns caught fire going 24-13 and storming into the playoffs against the Seattle SuperSonics. There were several reasons for the Suns turn-around: a Charlie Scott for Paul Westphal trade in the off-season, the drafting of Alvan Adams and Ricky Sobers, the acquisition of Al Bianchi as assistant coach and the mid-season trade that sent John Shumate to Buffalo and brought Garfield Heard to Phoenix. Phoenix eliminated the Sonics 4-2, then went on to upset the World Champion Golden State Warriors 4-3 and gain the NBA finals against the Boston Celtics. The Suns lost the first two games in Boston but came back to knot the series with a pair of victories in Phoenix. Game five will go down in basketball history as the most exciting game ever played: A-triple overtime contest that eluded the Suns by a few precious seconds and cost them the World Championship. Boston won the series 4-2. Rookie Alvan Adams was named the NBA Rookie of the Year and became only the tenth first-year player to be named to the mid-season All-Star Game. General Manager Jerry Colangelo was named Executive of the Year by The Sporting News.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Tom and Dick Van Arsdale were playing on the same team for the first time as pros. The Suns entered the year with the highest of expectations, then watched helplessly as injuries eventually claimed the entire starting front line. Forwards Gar Heard and Curtis Perry each missed nearly half the season and center Alvan Adams was injured in the fourth game of the season and didn't regain top form until February. The Suns had all players healthy and available for duty for only six games the entire season. The Suns finished 34-48, 5th in the Pacific Division. Paul Westphal led the club in scoring (21.2) for the second straight season and was named to the All-NBA Team for the first time in his career. Rookie Ron Lee was named to the NBA All Rookie Team and the Suns set a new home attendance mark, averaging over 10,000 fans per game. Westphal was voted to the starting unit of the West squad at the NBA All-Star Game in Milwaukee, scored 20 points and nearly captured the game's MVP award. As a team the Suns set a new assist record 2100 breaking the record they set in 1975-76. At the conclusion of the season, both Tom and Dick Van Arsdale retired from the NBA.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns announced a block-buster trade just before the opening of the season . . . Ricky Sobers to Indiana for guard Don Buse, an All-Star and the NBA leader in both assists and steals. With Buse and rookie Walter Davis new faces in the starting line-up, the Suns bolted from the gate, were 19-11 by Christmas and 34-16 by the February All-Star break. They finished with a 49-33 record, fourth best in basketball, but were second in the Pacific Division behind the formidable Portland Trail Blazers. It was a record year for the Suns in many ways. A franchise record was set for attendance (11,464 per game) and on the court the Suns set NBA records for team steals in a season (1059) as well as tying the league mark for assists (2338). Walter Davis and Paul Westphal were among the league's top ten scorers with better than 20 points per game, both were named Second All-NBA and both participated for the West at the All-Star Game in Atlanta, Westphal as a starter. Davis went on to become the league's Rookie of the Year and Don Buse was named to the NBA All-Defensive team. Ron Lee led the league in steals with 2.7 thefts per game. At the All-Star break the Suns lost forward Curtis Perry with back problems and went the rest of the season with five rookies on the roster, more than any other NBA club. In the opening (Best of Three) round in the NBA Playoffs the Suns were surprised in two straight games by the Milwaukee Bucks.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Phoenix opened the regular season with the same starting lineup that began the 77-78 season: Walter Davis and Gar Heard at forward, Alvan Adams at center, with Paul Westphal and Don Buse at guard. The Suns won five of their first six games and were 24-14 by January 1. By the February 4 All-Star break the Suns were 32-20. For the third straight year, Westphal started in the All-Star classic, and Davis made it for the second year in a row. On January 12, 1979 the Suns obtained Len "Truck" Robinson from the New Orleans Jazz in exchange for guard Ron Lee, forward Marty Byrnes, first-round picks in 1979 and 1980 and undisclosed cash. With an emotional overtime win over Seattle at Phoenix on March 30, the Suns qualified for the NBA playoffs for the second year in a row and the fourth time in their 11 NBA seasons. The Suns won eight games in a row down the stretch before losing their last two games at San Diego and at Los Angeles to close the 1978-79 season 50-32. The Suns FG% of .512 set a club record and was second in the NBA to Los Angeles. The Suns also set a club record for assists with 2500. Phoenix led the NBA in steals however with 915, an average of 11.2 per game. Westphal was named First Team All League, Davis Second Team. Buse was named to the All Defensive squad. In the Playoffs the Suns got by Portland (2-1), thrashed Kansas City (4-1), but lost 3-4 to eventual World Champion Seattle in a hard-fought Western Conference Final.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Phoenix opened the regular season on October 12 with a starting line-up of Walter Davis and Truck Robinson at forward, Alvan Adams at center, with guards Don Buse and Paul Westphal. The Suns were the only team in the NBA with five former All-Star game participants as starters. By New Year's Day Phoenix was 26-14 and 35-19 at the All-Star break. During December, the Suns hammered out a nine-game winning streak to tie an all-time club record. Jeff Cook was the starting center in eight of the nine games, as Alvan Adams sat out with a foot injury. On February 15, the Suns obtained 7-0 center Rich Kelley from the New Jersey Nets in exchange for a second-round Suns draft pick in 1983, a first-round pick in 1982 and cash. The Suns chased Seattle and Los Angeles for the Division lead for virtually the entire 82-game schedule, moving into a tie for the lead for just a short stretch in late November and early December. For the majority of the season though, the Suns were ensconced in third place in the Pacific. For the second season in a row Don Buse, Alvan Adams, Walter Davis and Paul Westphal all finished with over 300 Assists, the only time in NBA history that four players on the same team have accomplished this feat. Davis and Westphal played in the NBA All Star game in Washington and Westphal was named First Team, Davis Second Team on the post-season All-NBA Squad. In playoffs Suns defeated Kansas City 2-1, lost to Los Angeles 1-4.

(Record: 55-27)

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

When the Suns opened the campaign in October, questions surrounded newcomer Dennis Johnson, who had come to the Suns in the controversial deal that sent Paul Westphal to Seattle. There also were doubts about the Suns ability to adjust to the move of All-Star forward Walter Davis to the backcourt and to Jeff Cook moving into the starting line-up at forward. The Suns responded with their most successful season ever, finishing with a club record 57 wins against 25 losses, winning their first division title and clinching the best record in the Western Conference.

Phoenix opened the year with three straight wins before losing to the Lakers on October 17, the loss dropping the Suns out of first place for two days. It was the only time during the season that the Suns were not in first place, regaining the top spot to stay on October 20.

The Suns 36-5 home record tied their 1979-80 mark as the best in the club's history and their 21-20 record on the road was the first winning road record in the team's annals. The Suns did not lose more than two games in a row all season. They finished the season with a 16-9 record following the February 1 All-Star game.

The All-Star Game in Cleveland had a distinctive Phoenix flavor with John MacLeod and the Suns coaching staff at the helm of the West Squad, Walter Davis voted to a starting forward position by the fans and Dennis Johnson and Truck Robinson named to the team by a vote of Western Conference coaches. In the playoffs the Suns were surprised by a gritty Kansas City Kings club that took the Western Conference semi-finals 4-3. At season's end, Dennis Johnson was named to the All-NBA Team and was honored on the NBA's All-Defensive team. Suns General Manager Jerry Colangelo was named NBA Executive of the Year for the second time by The Sporting News.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns were dealt a crippling blow just days before the season opened, when guard Walter Davis suffered a fractured elbow in the club's final pre-season game. Kyle Macy joined Dennis Johnson, Alvan Adams, Len Robinson and Jeff Cook in the Suns opening night starting lineup. Seeking the right combinations and the proper chemistry, 1981-82 became a season of constant change and experimentation. Alvin Scott supplanted Cook in the starting lineup and later in the season Scott was supplanted by Alvan Adams, who shifted from his normal center position to allow Kelley into the starting lineup. Davis began his comeback in late December, but it became clear his elbow, still joined by surgical tension wires and screws, would keep him from reaching top form. He was used in a sixth man role most of the year.

With a month to go in the season, the Suns found themselves embroiled in a heated Western Conference playoff race. Phoenix, Golden State, Houston, San Antonio and Denver went up to the final weekend of the season before NBA tie-breaking procedures were utilized to finally settle qualification and home court advantage in the playoffs. The Suns finished the regular season with a 46-36 mark, good enough for third place in the NBA Pacific Division and a playoff berth. Phoenix opened post-season play by defeating Denver 2-1 in a hard-fought mini-series, winning the deciding game on the Nuggets' home court. In the Western Conference Semi-Finals, however, the Suns ran into a Los Angeles Lakers juggernaut and were swept by the Lakers (0-4) who went on to sweep San Antonio (4-0), then defeated Philadelphia 4-2 to win the NBA Championship. Dennis Johnson was named to the NBA All-Defensive team and was the lone Suns representative at the mid-season All-Star Game in New Jersey.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns were ready for some changes. They traded Len "Truck" Robinson to New York for power forward Maurice Lucas. They installed 6'10" second-year man Larry Nance at the "small" forward slot and welcomed back a healthy Walter Davis at guard. The only holdovers in the starting lineup from 1981-82 were center Alvan Adams and guard Dennis Johnson. During the first half of the season Phoenix drifted between second, third and fourth in the Pacific Division and at the All-Star break they were tied for second with a 30-22 record.

As the season progressed, so did Larry Nance. He finished the year by leading the Suns in field goal percentage (.550) and set a new franchise record for blocked shots in a season with 217.

In spite of their success, the Suns had a glaring weakness at back-up center, where they juggled Jeff Cook, Joel Kramer and Maurice Lucas. With starting center Alvan Adams undersized at 6'9", the Suns needed help down the middle. So, Suns General Manager Jerry Colangelo traded Jeff Cook, cash, a third round draft pick in 1983 and other considerations to Cleveland in exchange for 7'1" center James Edwards, who was coming back after early season knee surgery. Just as he was rounding into shape, Edwards sprained an ankle and was shelved for another month, but returned to see action in the Suns final nine games.

From the All-Star break the Suns won 23 of the 30 games and finished the season as the hottest team in the League, six straight. Phoenix won 12 of its final 13 games and in the process matched its best-ever season road record (21-20). The Suns' 53 wins in 1982-83 is the third-best mark in the history of the franchise. The Suns qualified for post-season play for the sixth straight year and the seventh time in eight seasons. The Suns were eliminated from the playoffs by the Denver Nuggets (2-1) in the opening round.

Walter Davis led the team in scoring (19.0), but it was defense that led the Suns' resurgence. Phoenix had the third-best mark in the NBA for Points Allowed (102.0) and were the best team in the League when it came to defending the field goal, holding their opponents to a .455 percentage from the field.

(Record: 53-29)

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

At the beginning of the season, plans were to start 7'1" James Edwards at center, but a fractured knuckle on his shooting hand banished him to the injured list and rendered him ineffective for the season's first month. Plans were to bring new acquisition Rick Robey along as a back-up forward to Maurice Lucas and a back-up center to Edwards and Alvan Adams, but Robey suffered a groin pull and later underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee, seeing little playing time. Plans were to start Kyle Macy at the guard slot left open by the departure of Dennis Johnson and bring Paul Westphal off the bench to provide additional backcourt scoring, but Westphal suffered a succession of hamstring and knee injuries that landed him on the injured list for much of the season's first half and Macy was supplanted in the starting lineup by rookie Rod Foster until the final weeks of the regular season. Suns Coach John MacLeod was forced constantly to juggle his starting assignments, searching for a consistency that did not materialize until late in the season.

Walter Davis returned to the Western Conference All-Star squad and Larry Nance won the NBA Slam Dunk Championship at Denver.

The Suns struggled on the road. Only their fine home court record (31-10) kept the Suns in the playoff race until the late stages of the season, when they put together six straight wins, their longest winning streak of the season.

The Suns were saving their most remarkable performances for the playoffs. They defeated Portland in a hard-fought five-game opening round series, winning the fifth and deciding game on the Blazers' home court. They proceeded to upend Midwest Division Champion Utah in six games in the next round, highlighted by a remarkable 111-110 overtime win in game four at the Coliseum. The Suns then took on the Los Angeles Lakers in the Western Conference Finals. The Suns pushed the talented Lakers to six games, defeating them 135-127 in overtime in game three in Phoenix and staving off elimination with a 126-121 upset win in Los Angeles in a dogged performance in game five. The Suns were finally eliminated in game six, but only when their final shot didn't connect in a 99-97 nail-biter.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns addition of promising rookie performer Jay Humphries gave hope for the coming season. The optimism proved ephemeral however, when the Suns leading scorer and five-time All-Star, Walter Davis, crashed to the Inglewood Forum floor with three torn ligaments in his left knee. Davis would miss the first two-thirds of the season and would never regain full mobility during a courageous comeback attempt.

Rick Robey would be out for the season with surgery on his right heel. Mike Sanders would miss almost three-quarters of the season with arthroscopic surgery on his left knee. Kyle Macy, who had never missed a game in four previous years in the NBA, was sidelined for 17 games with an assortment of foot and hip injuries. Larry Nance would miss 21 of the season's final 22 games with a groin injury. Maurice Lucas would miss 13 games with an assortment of ailments and center James Edwards would miss 12 games with a bruised right knee. In all, Suns would miss a total of 266 player/games due to injury or illness during the 1984-85 season. Only Alvan Adams went "wire-to-wire," appearing in all 82 games without suffering an injury and he did it for the first time in his 10-year NBA career.

The Suns jumped out to a surprising 5-0 start, the best beginning in the history of the franchise. It was Larry Nance who assumed the leadership role with Davis gone, topping the club in scoring (20.0) and virtually every other statistical category. Nance was named the NBA's first Player of the Week for 1984-85 and would go on to make his first appearance in an NBA All-Star game.

The Suns ranked #2 in the NBA in assists (2335) dishing out over 2,000 for the 10th year in a row. They qualified for the playoffs for the eighth straight year and for the ninth time in the last ten years, but they were knocked out 3-0 in the first round by the Lakers.

The Suns averaged 12,035 fans per game, setting a new attendance record for the franchise, breaking the old mark of 11,883 per game set during the 1981-82 campaign.

The Suns ended the regular season with "Suns Reunion '85," bringing back 24 former Suns players and coaches to participate in a weekend of Suns nostalgia, capped by an exhibition basketball game.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

In the weeks preceding the opener, the Suns confirmed their desire to go with youth and speed by trading veteran forward Maurice Lucas to the Lakers and allowing free agent guard Kyle Macy to sign with the Chicago Bulls. All-Star forward Larry Nance was a contract holdout through training camp and the pre-season before coming to terms one game into the regular season. Even as the curtain came up on 1985-86, the Suns old nemesis, injury, had already exacted a toll. Guards Rod Foster and Bernard Thomspson along with center Nick Vanos were on the shelf and it would get worse as only two Suns would be able to appear in all 82 games. Opening night's starting lineup consisted of Jay Humphries and Walter Davis at guard, Alvan Adams at center, with Mike Sanders and Charles Jones at the forward spots.

Phoenix got off to the worst start in franchise history, going 0-9. During that period, the Suns successfully negotiated for the services of Georgi Glouchkov, a strapping 6'8" center from the Bulgarian National Team, who became the first Eastern Bloc player to play in the NBA. At first, Glouchkov captured national media attention, as well as the affection of Phoenix fans, but communication difficulty, not to mention achilles tendinitis, would drastically curtail his playing time as the season progressed.

Both Davis and Alvan Adams passed the 12,000 point plateau for their NBA careers with Davis taking over the Suns all-time scoring lead. Davis led the team in scoring (21.8), while Nance became the club's top rebounder (8.5). For the first time in their history, the Suns did not place a player on the squad for the mid-season NBA All-Star game.

The capper to the season came when reserve guard Rod Foster suffered a severe break of his left leg in a jeep accident north of Phoenix. The Suns signed Sedric Toney from the CBA for the final 10 games of the season. For the year, injuries hammered the Suns for a total of 232 player/games.

Suns attendance held its own for the season, with an average of 11,121 per game. The Suns could never recover from their 0-9 beginning and finished the year 32-50, failing to make the playoffs for the first time in nine seasons.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns opened the season with Larry Nance and Ed Pinckney at forward, Alvan Adams at center and Walter Davis and Jay Humphries at guard. That unit would start 26 of the Suns 82 games, but 19 other starting combinations would get a shot along the way. Phoenix had five rookies on the club including William Bedford, the team's first round pick (sixth overall), Jeff Hornacek, Rafael Addison, Grant Gondrezick and Kenny Gattison. The Suns split their first ten and their first 20 games, but their 12-12 record in mid-December would be the last time they would be at .500.

On February 26th, after consecutive losses to the Lakers and their record at 22-34, the Suns fired their Head Coach of 13-plus seasons, John MacLeod, replacing him with Interim Head Coach Dick Van Arsdale. Under Van Arsdale, the Suns halted their skid going 14-12 over the season's final 26 games. During the final two weeks of the season, the Suns won nine of their last ten games and 12 of their last 15. They won nine straight at home to end the season. Walt Davis led the team in scoring with a 23.6 average while Larry Nance chipped in 22.5 points per game. Davis also made his 6th appearance in the All-Star game in February.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

When the Phoenix Suns projected their opening night lineup for the 1987-88 season, rookie Coach John Wetzel envisioned a starting unit of Larry Nance and Armon Gilliam at forward, James Edwards at center with Walter Davis and Jay Humphries at guard. During the course of an up and down year, team chemistry, trades and injuries would force Wetzel into 17 different starting combinations. During the season's final month, the Suns starting unit had evolved into Eddie Johnson at small forward, Mark West at center, Kevin Johnson and Jeff Hornacek at guard. Gilliam was the only holdover from that preseason projection, but even he sat out the first one-third of the season due to injury.

The Suns finished the season with a 28-54 record, their poorest record since their 16-66 expansion season in 1968-69. However, in Suns history, 1987-88 will likely be referred to as "The Year of the Trade." In late February, Suns Director of Player Personnel, "Cotton" Fitzsimmons orchestrated a series of trades that changed the face and the fortunes of the Suns. On February 24, the Suns traded center James Edwards to the Detroit Pistons for a second round draft pick in 1991 and Ron Moore. The following day Fitzsimmons dropped the blockbuster, the largest single transaction in the 20-year history of the Suns franchise. He dealt Suns forwards Larry Nance and Mike Sanders, along with Detroit's first round pick in 1988 to the Cleveland Cavaliers in exchange for the Cav's first and second round draft picks in 1988, the Laker's second in 1989, and players Kevin Johnson, Mark West and Tyrone Corbin. The Suns finished off the trading flurry by sending Jay Humphries to Milwaukee for Craig Hodges and Golden State's second round pick in 1988. The trades gave the Suns additional quickness in the backcourt, tougher defense inside, and additional hope for the future through the draft.

After the anticipated adjustment period following a major trade, the Suns put together a respectable 11-9 record over the last quarter of the season.

Shortly after the end of the season, Wetzel was fired and was replaced by Director of Player Personnel Cotton Fitzsimmons.

1988-89

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

When the season began, no one predicted that the Phoenix Suns would end up with the fourth best record in the NBA and give the defending World Champion Los Angeles Lakers a serious run for the Pacific Division title. The Suns did just that on their way to the third biggest turnaround in NBA history.

The 1988-89 Suns did not resemble any Suns team of the past since just one player, Jeff Hornacek, remained on the squad from two years ago. Director of Player Personnel Cotton Fitzsimmons took over the head coaching reins and brought assistant coaches Paul Westphal, Lionel Hollins and Truck Robinson on board.

The Suns won 55 games in 1988-89 which tied the second best record in club history (1979-80). They ended the season winning 18 of their last 22 games including a franchise record six in a row on the road. The Suns tied the franchise record with nine wins in a row from 3/31-4/19. They won 27 more games than last year and were 28-1 vs. Western Conference opponents at home during the season. They ended the season as the NBA's #1 scoring team averaging 118.6 points per game. They were the only team in the league to have three players average more than twenty points for the season (Chambers 25.7, E. Johnson 21.5, K. Johnson 20.4).

The Suns set a new Coliseum attendance record in 1988-89. They averaged 12,465 at home with 18 sellouts, also a franchise record.

The Suns faced Denver in the first round of the playoffs, their first post-season appearance in four years. They won that series 3-0. Their next opponent was the Golden State Warriors. The Suns prevailed in that series 4-1. The Suns next had to play the defending World Champhion Lakers in the Western Conference Finals. They played the Lakers tough but were shut out 4-0.

The Suns were showered with post season awards. Eddie Johnson won the NBA Sixth Man Award, Kevin Johnson was named the Most Improved Player, Cotton Fitzsimmons won NBA Coach of the Year and Jerry Colangelo was named NBA Executive of the Year. It was the first time in NBA history that a team won four post-season league awards. Tom Chambers and Kevin Johnson were also selected to the NBA Second Team.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The 1989-90 Phoenix Suns opened on the heels of a 55-27 record and a Western Conference Final appearance the previous year. This year's team finished 54-28 and accomplished many things along the way.

The '89-'90 Suns had a strong nucleus with eight players returning from last year's team. Tom Chambers, Kevin Johnson, Eddie Johnson, Jeff Hornacek, Dan Majerle, Mark West, Tim Perry and Andrew Lang gave the Suns their starting point. They added rookies Kenny Battle, Greg Grant, Mike Morrison and Ricky Blanton. On December 13, 1989, the Suns acquired Kurt Rambis from Charlotte in exchange for Armon Gilliam and two second round draft picks. Veteran guard Mike McGee joined the club from the Italian League on March 25th to round out the squad.

The Suns led the NBA in differential between points scored and points allowed (7.1) for the second season in a row. They ended the season second in the NBA in points scored (114.9) and eighteenth in points allowed (107.8). Their 22 road wins established a new team record. The Suns established a new NBA record on April 9th when they hit 61 free throws vs the Jazz. They set a new team record for most blocked shots in a season (501). The Suns also won 19 in a row at home during the season which set a new single season club record.

Head Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons reached the .500 mark with a win over the Sixers on February 24th. That was the first time he was at the .500 level since March 7, 1976 when he was head coach of the Atlanta Hawks. Fitzsimmons, the 1988-89 NBA Coach of the Year, was named Coach of the Month for February. He ended the 1989-90 season approaching 700 wins for his seventeen-year coaching career.

The Suns set a new all-time regular season home attendance record on 4/3 vs Dallas. The Suns played to 578,661 fans this season. The old record, set last year was 511,076. Suns attendance at home (14,114) was up 13% compared to last season (12,465) and the Suns played to 97% capacity. The Suns had 26 sellouts this season which sets a new franchise record (18 last year).

Phoenix began playoff competition with a hard-fought 3-2 series win over Utah. They then defeated the Lakers 4-1 in the Western Conference Semi-finals, the first time a Suns team defeated the Lakers in seven playoff series. The Suns then lost to Portland 4-2 in the conference finals.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

Following two consecutive trips to the Western Conference Finals and two straight 50+ win seasons, expectations of the Suns in 1990-91 were high. They finished 55-27, their 3rd straight 50+ season.

After finishing with the best preseason record in club history (7-1), the Suns took off for Tokyo, Japan to open the season with two games against the Utah Jazz. It marked the first time that professional sports teams from the United States played regular season games outside of North America. The Suns and Jazz split the two games.

The Suns set several records vs. Denver on Nov. 10. In that game, Head Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons won his 700th career game, becoming only the seventh coach in NBA history to achieve that mark. As a team, the Suns set a new NBA record for points in a half, scoring 107 first-half points, and tied the record for total number of points in a non-overtime game with 173. Phoenix also set records with 57 points in the 2nd quarter, 33 assists in the first half and total field goals made (67).

For November the Suns were 5-1 at the Coliseum and 3-3 on the road (including Tokyo games). On Nov. 27 in Portland, the Suns defeated the Trail Blazers 123-109, ending a 20-game losing streak in Portland. The Suns last win there was March 31, 1983 when they beat the Blazers 106-89.

On Dec. 7 the Suns sent Eddie Johnson and draft picks to the Seattle SuperSonics for Xavier McDaniel. McDaniel helped the team to a 10-5 mark in December. In January, Phoenix duplicated its record from December including a 1/18 victory vs. Detroit to stop their 11-game winning streak. The Suns struggled in February going 8-5 but managed to end the Lakers streak of 16 straight wins on 2/12. Phoenix bounced back in March going 13-3. The 13 wins tied the club record for most wins in any month. The Suns won 7 consecutive road games in March and, coupled with their last road win in February, set a new franchise record for consecutive road wins with eight.

The injury bug caught the Suns in April as Kevin Johnson and Dan Majerle each missed 5 games and Tom Chambers missed three. Phoenix finished the month 6-5 and ended the season by breaking the Portland Trail Blazers 16-game winning streak with a 135-118 victory.

Phoenix finished the year with a 32-9 record at home and a 23-18 mark on the road. Their 23 road wins eclipsed the record of 22 set during last season.

The Suns set a new attendance record, including sellouts of all 40 games at the Coliseum (589,591).

Phoenix made a quick exit from the Playoffs falling to the Utah Jazz 3-1 in the first round.

YEAR BY YEAR WITH THE SUNS

The Suns 53-29 record marked their fourth straight year with 50+ wins. During that four-year stretch, Phoenix compiled a 217-111 regular season mark, the fifth best record in the NBA, behind only the Bulls, Lakers, Pistons and Trail Blazers. The Suns opened last season with a grueling November in which they went 8-9. They rebounded and went 11-1 in December, 10-6 in January, 16-6 in an injury-plagued February, 12-3 in March and 5-4 in April. It included the franchise's 1,000th career win as they became just the 12th franchise in NBA history to reach the 1,000 win plateau and only Milwaukee, Boston, Philadelphia and the Lakers did so in less time. Phoenix's 36-5 home record equalled the team's previous best set during the 1978-90 and 1980-81 seasons. Five Suns players — Jeff Hornacek, Kevin Johnson, Dan Majerle, Tom Chambers and Tim Perry — averaged double figure scoring as Phoenix averaged 112.1 points per game, second in the league. The Suns completed their 24th and final season at the Veterans' Memorial Coliseum by setting a new regular season attendance record. The Suns defeated San Antonio 3-0 in the first round and lost to Portland, 1-4 in the second round of the playoffs.

THE SUNS ARE ALSO SHOOTING TO HELP KIDS IN NEED.

Thanks to the Phoenix Suns Charities, hundreds of disabled and disadvantaged youths are bouncing back.

The programs we help fund provide education, social services and medical attention that can make a difference. They bring children hope. And care. And a chance to improve the quality of their lives.

With enough support, anything is possible.

Help the Suns brighten the future of our children.

NBA Playoff Format Explained

A total of 16 teams will qualify for the 1993 NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record, regardless of division. The First Round is best-of-5 (2-2-1), each succeeding round, including the NBA World Championship Series, is best-of-7.

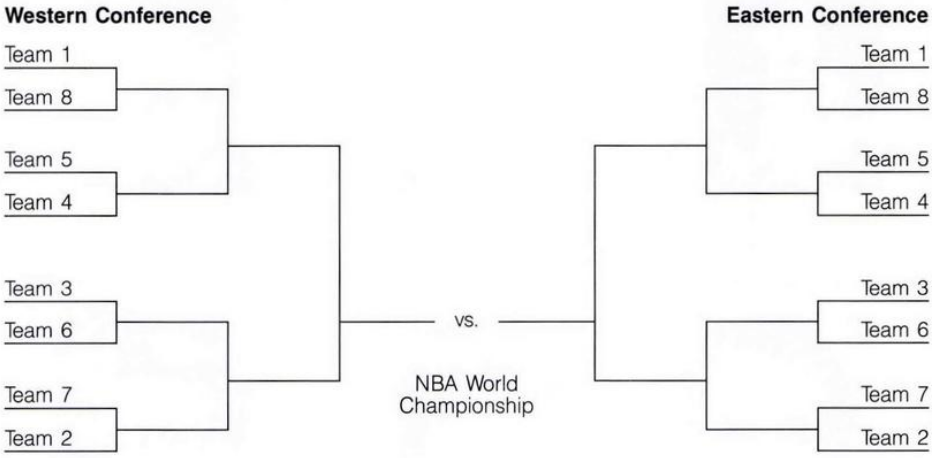
In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get the home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matchups, the eight qualifiers in each conference must first be ranked. The division winner with the better record becomes Team 1, the other division winner becomes Team 2 and the remaining 6 qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are Team 1 vs 8, 2 vs 7, 3 vs 6, and 4 vs 5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of pairing 1-8 plays the winner of pairing 4-5 and the winner of pairing 2-7 plays the winner of pairing 3-6.

The World Championship Series will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first two and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

NBA Playoff Format

Following are the playoff pairings:



Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record, Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

Tie-Breaking Procedures for Playoffs

Following is the tie-breaking procedure that is used to determine teams qualifying for the NBA Playoffs.

Two team ties:

1. Results of games against each other.
2. Winning percentage within own conference.
3. Winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential in games against each other.
6. Point differential between offense and defense.

Multiple team ties:

1. Cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all tied teams.
2. Winning percentage within own conference.
3. Winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference.
5. Point differential between offense and defense.

Notes:

1. Any ties involving the championship of a division are broken first.
2. If a multiple-team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, that situation is then resolved by using the procedures outlined for two team ties.

Information for the Media

On behalf of the Phoenix Suns, welcome to the 1992-93 National Basketball Association season. The Suns appreciate the cooperation and coverage we've been afforded and look forward to our 25th year in Phoenix. We ask you to abide by the following guidelines so that we might run our operation as smoothly as possible and allow you the best possible working conditions.

Media credentials are issued to working media only. All season and individual game credential holders should enter through the northeast entrance off 3rd Street and Jefferson. Media will-call opens two and one-half hours prior to the game. All credentials are non-transferable, and any unauthorized use will subject bearer to ejection from the America West Arena and confiscation of the pass.

Season media passes will be issued to recognized newspapers, magazines, television and radio outlets making reasonable requests on company letterhead. Please indicate those persons that will be using each pass. It is imperative that season pass holders notify this office of their intentions to cover a game in order to reserve press seating.

Individual game credentials should be requested through the public relations department a minimum of 30 hours prior to game time or by 1:30 p.m. Friday for all Saturday, Sunday and Monday contests. Pre-arranged passes may be picked up at the media will-call located inside the northeast entrance. Absolutely NO passes will be issued on game day. Credentials will be issued on an availability-only basis.

Credentials are good for admittance to the arena, media room and both locker rooms. Both the Suns and visiting locker rooms will be open up to 45 minutes before the game and then again 10 minutes after the game. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere. ABSOLUTELY NO AUTOGRAPHS ALLOWED DURING MEDIA ACCESS PERIODS.

Interviews which need advance preparation or special accommodation by a Suns player or staff member should be made by contacting the Suns public relations department. This includes all live television interviews for pre- and post-game.

Photo credentials will be issued in the same manner as other passes. Weekly papers and magazines on assignment may obtain passes by having the photo editor request a single game credential. It is club policy NOT to allow freelance photographers acces. ALL photographers must have an arm band in order to gain floor access. The arm bands can be obtained at the media will-call check in.

Telephones for the working media should be ordered through Vicki Berryman at the America West Arena (602) 379-2099.

Facsimile service is available by contacting the Suns public relations department prior to the game.

Statisticians are available to assist radio and television broadcasters by contacting the Suns public relations department. These services must be arranged for in advance, and once they are made, the statistician must be compensated whether or not used.

We hope that this outline of procedures and guidelines will assist you in your coverage of the National Basketball Association in the America West Arena. Please don't hesitate to call on us if you need additional assistance.

Best regards

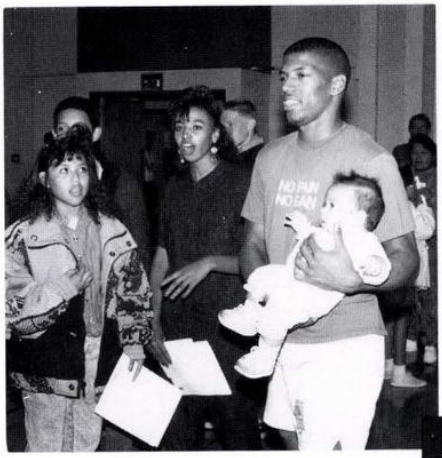
Commitment To Community

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On a local level, the Phoenix Suns are involved in numerous public service initiatives.

The NBA and the Suns have worked to draw attention to this country's alarming drop-out statistics through the Stay in School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the Stay in School program uses the popularity and visibility of players and coaches to encourage young people to develop self-esteem, set goals, and dedicate themselves to learning.

This season, approximately 18,000 students who achieve exemplary school attendance during the year will be invited to the Stay in School Jam at the America West Arena. At the Jam, students will be entertained by top national music acts, Suns players and the Gorilla. Included in the Suns' Stay in School program are the Gorilla's Hoopmarks Reading Incentive Program and The Follow the Suns Math, Science & Geography Lessons.



Through public service announcements and other awareness-building projects, the Suns also support the work of the Special Olympics, Cystic Fibrosis 65 Roses Sports Club and Samaritan Wheelchair Suns. And during January each year, the NBA and the Suns air PSAs saluting the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.
